

CTech Corporation presents at the Masterbatch Asia 2011 conference, Singapore- 28th-30th March, 2011

MASTERBATCH ASIA 2011 is the 7th international meeting for the Asian concentrate industry. AMI has been organizing its regular Masterbatch conference since 1987.

CTech Corporation had been invited by the Applied Market Information, a leading plastics market research and consultancy organization for the 7th Masterbatch Asia 2011 conference. The conference has been an important business forum and was attended by senior delegates in various organizations worldwide and was specifically tailored for the concentrate producing industry.

CTech Corporation was invited to present a paper 'Repellence: The Green way to do it!!!' which discussed the various low-toxic alternatives developed in order to address the threat of rodent and termite damage to the wires and cables, gas pipelines, agricultural crops, automotive applications and so on, which had been tested in real life testing conditions giving conclusive test results.

AMI's Masterbatch Asia conference attracted around 150 delegates from all the producing countries in the region, representing over 300,000 tons of concentrate production including most of the leading concentrate producers.
